Task-4

Email 1 — Request for Assignment Extension

Subject - Request for Extension on Assignment Submission

Dear Professor Sharma,

I hope you are doing well.

I am writing to respectfully request an extension for the submission of my assignment for your course. Due to unforeseen circumstances, I have been unable to complete the assignment by the given deadline.

I understand the importance of deadlines and take full responsibility for the delay. I would be grateful if you could kindly grant me an extension of a few days so that I can submit quality work.

Please let me know if any additional information or documentation is required.

Thank you for your understanding and consideration.

Sincerely,
Harshal Pawar

Email 2 — Internship Inquiry

Subject - Inquiry Regarding Summer Internship Opportunity

Dear Hiring Manager,

I hope this email finds you well.

My name is Harshal Pawar, and I am currently a second-year B.Tech student in Computer Science Engineering. I am writing to express my interest in pursuing a summer internship at your esteemed organization.

I am particularly interested in gaining practical experience in areas such as cloud computing and system engineering. I am eager to apply my academic knowledge to real-world projects and further develop my technical and professional skills.

I would greatly appreciate the opportunity to contribute to your team and learn from experienced professionals. Please let me know if there are any available internship opportunities or the application process I should follow.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to your response.

Sincerely,
Harshal Pawar

Responsible Social Media Use for College Students.

Do's:

- Think before posting — ask yourself if it could affect your future.
- Keep your accounts secure with strong passwords and privacy settings.
- Share useful or positive content that reflects your personality well.
- Respect others' opinions, even if you disagree.

- Verify information before sharing to avoid spreading misinformation.

Don’ts:

- Don’t share personal details like your address, phone number, or passwords.
- Don’t post when you’re angry or emotional — it can lead to regret later.
- Don’t engage in online arguments or cyberbullying.
- Don’t believe or forward everything you see without checking facts.
- Don’t overshare your daily life — it can affect your privacy and safety.

I had to write two professional emails and also think about proper online communication. One email was about requesting an extension from a professor, and the other was for applying to an internship. While writing them, I tried to keep the language simple and polite. I also made sure to include a clear subject, proper greeting, and ending. Earlier, I didn’t pay much attention to these small things, but while doing this task I realized they actually matter a lot.

For the second part, I made a checklist of do’s and don’ts for social media use. It made me think about how students sometimes post or message without thinking about consequences.

One situation I can think of is when someone sends a message to a teacher in a very casual or rude way, like using short forms or no greeting. This can create a bad impression and even lead to misunderstandings. Instead, writing properly and respectfully could avoid such problems.

Overall, this task helped me understand that communication online should be clear and professional, especially in academic or work-related situations.
